

EGYPTIAN PROTESTERS PROTECTIVE OUTFIT

This 'tri-bottle scarf helmet' will be effective only for stones
The size of an egg and if the strike is directly from above.
Even then the headache could be quite severe.

This 'boxhat' is effective only against pebbles. However, it's good for oblique hits to the head.

This piece of brickwear will only add to the headache. It's not effective against oblique hits to the head.

Old skool 80's broken bin helmet. You have to lift it up to see – otherwise you'll be walking into things??

This 'saucepan-with-lifejacket' combo is well thought of as defence against stones and water cannons.

This wok has seen better days, but good enough for head protection.

And the winner by 100 miles. This bloke goes demonstrating with 2 baguettes strapped to his ears and a falafel salad pita cello taped to his forehead. He won't go hungry but might get a headache.
